President's Notes

Christmas in October was a mix of sunshine and rain, but the shoppers came and filled their bags with our wonderful items. Thank you to all who crafted or baked or worked or shopped.

As I reflect on what we have accomplished this year, once again, I am astounded. You are truly turning us into a top-notch museum. Yes...a museum. We have pushed and pulled ourselves around the curve. I have visited several other museums this summer and I always come away in awe of what WE have. We are not a diamond in the rough anymore, we are a diamond!

Please be proud of yourselves as we move into a new year. We will face many challenges as the economy is still slumping. We face the challenge of finishing the Village as we find ourselves turning to maintenance of the older buildings. We face the challenge of presenting ourselves to the public in a purely customer service mode. We face the challenge of moving forward in a totally digital world.

We have challenges because we are successful! And, I am totally confident we can face these head on.

I wish you a safe and peaceful holiday season.

Sally Strait

Vintage Christmas Postcards 1907 & 1911 Bay City, Michigan

The first commercial Christmas cards were commissioned by Sir Henry Cole in London in 1843.

Cole had helped introduce the penny post three years earlier.

Early English cards rarely showed winter or religious themes, instead favoring flowers, fairies and other fanciful designs that reminded the recipient of the approach of spring. The advent of the postcard spelled the end for the elaborate Victorian-style cards but by the 1920s, cards with envelopes returned.

In 1875 Louis Prang became the first printer to offer cards in America.

Sleigh Ride

Below is an excerpt from :
History of Oakland County, Michigan
by Samuel W. Durant
Philadelphia: L.H. Everts & Co 1877

The first entry of land in Waterford township was made by Major Oliver Williams, on the banks of Silver Lake, in section 13, in 1819. In 1823 the eldest daughter of Major Williams married Rufus Stevens, and in June of the same year the couple emigrated to Grand Blanc, and became the first settlers in Genesee county. In the fall of the same year Mr. Jacob Stevens also removed with his family to Genesee county. In the month of January 1826, the young people of Pontiac organized a sleighing party, for the purpose of visiting the Stevenses in their new home. The party consisted of fourteen, and made the trip in one double sleigh, two cutters<sup>1</sup>, and two jumps<sup>3</sup>. They left Silver Lake about seven A.M., and took dinner from their own lunch-baskets at the Big springs, about midway between Silver Lake and Grand Blanc.

They arrived at Mr. Stevens' about sundown, after a pleasant ride of thirty-five miles. On their arrival the company divided, and filled both the dwellings occupied by the Stevens families, which were about a half-mile apart. After a hearty supper, the entire company repaired to the house of Rufus Stevens, which was only fourteen feet in size, yet they managed to get all inside, and a more enjoyable evening was probably never spent by any of the party. The chief orator and story-teller seems to have been Colonel David Stanard, who had a rich fund of anecdotes and amusing stories.

The next day was spent in social visiting, and the second evening the party assembled at the house of Jacob Stevens, where they were joined by all the young people of the vicinity, - in all two couples, - and after a pleasant evening a grand supper was spread, and enjoyed with that keen relish which only the backwoods settler can know.

The next day at sunrise everybody was astir, and, after an early breakfast, the party bade farewell to their friends and turned their faces homeward, arriving at Waterford about five P.M., where they stopped for the night. After a warm supper, the evening was pleasantly passed in games of whist<sup>5</sup> and other amusements, and after one more night "abroad" the company were again under way, and arrived at Silver Lake about nine o'clock A.M., where they were refreshed with a hot mug of "flip"<sup>2</sup>, after which they separated for their respective homes, somewhat tired, but all satisfied with their days' experience and enjoyment. Thus ended the great sleigh-ride of 1826.

As a matter of interest to many, we append a list of the members composing this famous party.

Colonel David Stanard, Miss Sylvina Stanard, Origen D. Richardson, Miss Lavina Beach, Gideon O. Whittemore, Miss Sarah Comstock, Elias Comstock, Miss Lucy Sampson, Schuyler Hodges, Miss Mary A. Williams, Ephraim S. Williams, Miss Eunice Stevens, Gardner D. Williams, Miss Martha Stevens.

According to Mrs. Hodges' recollection, the first celebration of New Year's day was on the first day of January, 1823, at the house of Judge Davis, in Rochester, with music and a grand New Year's ball and supper in the evening.

The parties from Waterford, Silver Lake, and Pontiac started for the grand rendezvous very early in the morning, and rode for hours in a snow-storm, but in spite of the storm and obscure roads, they succeeded in getting together about all the young people in the county, amounting to about sixty. A part of the company did not arrive until the regular supper was over, but they joined in the dance in a crowded room until about twelve o'clock, when then "the night drave on wi' sangs and clatter" until daylight, when the party broke up. The horses were obliged to stand out all night, on the leeward<sup>4</sup> side of the house, sheltered as much as possible by robes and blankets. Several of the party came with ox-teams, and these fared no better than the horses. The bill was twenty-five cents per couple, and was paid without a murmur.

The next New Year's found the same fun-loving party at the house of Judge Bagley, at Bloomfield Centre, where he kept tavern in a large frame house containing a bar-room, dining room, and commodious sleeping rooms in the upper story. The bar-room was used for the dancing-hall, and after supper the dining room was cleared, and both occupied by the "gay and festive" party, who "made a night of it," all ages joining, and enjoying themselves in the highest degree.

These pleasure-parties, together with Fourth of July celebrations and "general trainings," constituted the holidays of the time. A dance once a year was considered about the proper thing. In the warm months the pastimes consisted of logging-bees, house-raising, and fighting the forest-fires.

- |                      |   |
| cutter <sup>1</sup>  | - a small light sleigh  |
| flip <sup>2</sup>    | - a mixed drink usually consisting of a sweetened, spiced liquor with beaten eggs |
| jump <sup>3</sup>    | - a kind of sled  |
| leeward <sup>4</sup> | - the side or direction away from the wind  |
| whist <sup>5</sup>   | - a card game: forerunner of bridge   |

Eagle Scout Project

The Waterford Historical Society would like to thank Boy Scout Kyler Kirk from Troop 51 in Waterford for the work he did for us on the Hatchery House porches.

Kyler re-built and repaired the front porch of the Hatchery House using historically correct materials. This included replacing a lot of the structure under the porch as well as the wood flooring planks. Kyler also painted the front and back porches and installed safety stair treads on both porches.

Kyler did the labor and also raised the money needed to complete the work as his Eagle Scout Project. Thank you Kyler for a job well done!

Can you help?

Annual Giving

We are including our Annual Giving form with this newsletter instead of sending out an additional mailing.

Our annual giving is a yearly plea for help with the day to day expenses like electricity, gas and insurance. This year we also had the added expense of completing the Watchpocket building. All our funding comes solely from donations by generous people interested in preserving the history of Waterford.

Maybe you are a member who cannot volunteer on Wednesdays or at our special events. Or maybe you are a lifetime member who might be able to give a little more. This is your chance to help us out. Your donation is just as important as volunteering!!!

We thank you for caring enough to help us continue to be an organization you can be proud to be a member of.
